Leadership Partners Virtual Executive Education Academy for Campus and District Leaders

In Partnership with the Rice University
Jones Graduate School of Business

2021 - 2022 Academy

---

This is the leadership training and coaching that educators need.

Participating in the Virtual Executive Education Academy WILL be the most beneficial nine months of your career

Research indicates principal preparation has remained static for decades and does not prepare leaders well enough to face the daunting and complex problems in K-12 schools. Click here to read the research.

As such, Leadership Partners offers our Virtual Executive Education Academy, a nine-month leadership development program for K-12 campus and district leaders that provides unique and cutting-edge professional development that focuses on the “whole leader”.

The Academy helps improve schools by offering campus and district leaders tools and strategies not found in traditional preparation programs nor in professional development offerings.

Rice University, Houston, TX

Leadership Partners' Executive Education Academy is offered in partnership with the Rice University Jones Graduate School of Business.

Participants earn a powerful credential: A Rice University Business Certificate from the Jones Graduate School of Business/Executive Education, in addition to CPE hours.

Who Should Attend

- District leaders: Superintendents, associate superintendents, assistant superintendents, directors, coordinators
- Campus leaders: Principals
- Junior leaders: Associate/assistant principals, deans, instructional coaches
- Aspiring leaders: Teacher leaders who aspire to lead at higher levels

Whether you are “building the bench” or providing professional development for veteran leaders, the Academy is for you.

Academy Timeline

Academy's Five Core Competencies

---

All Academy programming and efforts are underpinned by five core competencies.

Leading Change: An effective leader relies on an understanding of change theory, interpersonal communication, innovative strategic thinking, and ethical behavior to create and maintain a mission-driven school culture that embraces change.

Leading Stakeholders: Relationship building and interpersonal skills are critical for the development of human capital, high quality teams, and effective work within any given community. Coalitions for success extend outside of the school itself. Establishing a true understanding of how to leverage all stakeholders is critical.

Leading Others: An effective leader creates a following through inspiring trust, respect and direction. Beyond charisma, an effective leader understands his/her own strengths and weaknesses and those in others. Effective leaders are able to motivate groups of people to act toward a common goal.

Leading the Organization: An effective leader masters a comprehensive understanding of finance, strategy, communication, management, and ethics, to enhance his/her ability to manage and influence others toward a common vision.

Leading Results: An effective leader creates an environment where there is an intentional focus on learning, curriculum/instruction, and data-driven decision-making to create the conditions and systems that support the success of students and teachers.

Your Learning Experience

You will be challenged, surprised, motivated and connected.
No one offers leadership development like we do.

Leadership Partners is committed to...

Providing a strategic framework of leadership development focused on the “whole leader,” Executive Coaching, world class professors and national faculty, and cutting-edge diagnosis and design tools to help campus and district leaders improve learning and achievement in their schools.

Bringing you a highly personalized learning experience through executive coaching and deliberate networking. You will know yourself as a person and a leader MUCH better after the academy. Leadership is an “inside job”, so we focus on developing the whole leader.

Giving you the best Rice University has to offer. The Rice professors will build your entrepreneurial skills and give you some MBA acumen to help you run your school or district more effectively.

Bringing you the best national faculty during our leadership summit. We feature Principal Kafele, Dr. Jason Irizarry (University of Connecticut), Dr. Anthony Muhammad, and Dr. Adam Saenz. Click here to learn more about the faculty.

What Past Participating Leaders Say About the Academy

"The executive coaching was the most powerful tool that changed me the most. I LOVED the class with Dr. Tobin and Dr. Smith. I also have started working with Adam Saenz to develop the social-emotional health of my staff, students, and parents".

"This experience has subjected me to areas of personal growth that may have otherwise never manifested in life. Each topic, meeting, seminar, class, conversation and assignment has consecrated the value of transparency, vulnerability, taking risk, and being intentional with relationships and servant leadership."

"These sessions provided me the opportunity to take a step away from campus (and the daily distractions and tasks) in order to examine myself and how I can be more impactful when leading others. Sometimes PD offered in District does not provided the opportunity to really self- reflect to plan for change".

"That all the areas of my life are important (professional, wellness and relational). If I foster balance in my life, I will become a better leader. The Coaching Experience was amazing to me!"

"My biggest take away from Kim (my coach) was that I must balance my spiritual, family, and professional life. My energy in my work life must be the same or greater for my spiritual and family life. Kim has helped me change priorities in my life to balance everything I do; I am so grateful that she came into my life. I had some life changing events in my family, and Kim's compassion and no time limit coaching sessions are appreciated! Thank you, Kim!"
